Anti-Peking Group Assails Hilsman Speech on China

The Committee of One Million Against the Admission of Communist China to the United Nations Monday attacked a recent speech by a State Department official on potential relations with China.

The committee charged Roger Hilsman Jr., Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, with having departed from official United States policy by promoting a "two Chinas solution."

Mr. Hilsman had said in San Francisco Dec. 13 that the United States was keeping the "door open" to negotiations with Communist China for the day when the Chinese leaders would forsake their "venomous hatreds" of the United States.

The committee, with headquarters at 79 Madison Avenue, was organized in 1953 to mobilize sentiment against "any appeasement of Communist China." The honorary chairman is Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan.
